

The named bearer of this passport is a member of The Wasteland Commission: an organisation under the auspices of the British Empire and Commonwealth.

They travel under the remit of the King to bring help to realms that need their aid and to work for the good of the world we now live in.

The Crown and it's servants seek to reunite all of it's realms under one leadership and to offer support and patronage to any who still swear loyalty to the Empire and friendships to all who would treat with it in peace.

These papers are empowered by the Royal Society at the request of the crown. Forgery of these papers or possession of them without cause is a crime punishable by life imprisonment.
